

Internet User Privacy Policy

This site respects privacy of Internet Users and does not collect personally identifying information without the Internet User's permission.

Collection of Data

This site does not collect identity or contact information from Internet Users to this website. This site may however, collect non-personally identifiable information, for example, browser type, operating system, domain name, time spent on the web site, or referring link. This information may be used for system, website, and process improvements.

This site does not sell or rent personally identifying information. This site does not disclose personally identifying information to anyone that is not authorized to do so. This site uses anonymous user data to create and report the browsing, purchasing and/or form completion activities of anonymous users.

This site reserves the right to release information on Internet Users if compelled to do so by proper judicial or governmental authorities. Disclosure shall be limited to only those we are compelled to disclose to. At present, all information processing occurs in the United States.

Collection of Information by Third-Party Sites

This site contains links to other Internet websites and has no control or authority over the information submitted/collected by these third party websites(s). Please refer to the respective Privacy Policy of the individual third party website(s).

Use and Disclosure of Data Spam

This site does not intentionally send unsolicited e-mail messages that could legitimately be construed as spam.

Policy Changes

With or without prior notification, we may find it necessary or be legally obligated to update this Privacy Policy from time to time. All changes will be posted at this site. Except as otherwise required by law, modifications to this Privacy Policy will not affect the privacy of data collected by us prior to the effective date of the policy change.